

General Information:

Josep Casulleras is a philologist and historian of Arabic science, co-editor (with Julio Samsó) of Suhayl. International Journal for the History of the Exact and Natural Sciences in Islamic Civilisation (since 2012) and secretary of the IUHPS Commission for the History of Ancient and Medieval Astronomy (since 2009)

Short CV:

Part-time (1997-2007, and since 2013) and full-time (2007-2012) teaching and research positions at the University of Barcelona
Ph.D., History of Science, University of Barcelona (2006)

Predocctoral fellowship, Spanish government (1992-1996)

Degree in Arabic Philology, Universitat de Barcelona (1991)

Selected Publications:

- "The Contents of Qāsim ibn Mutārrif al-Qattān's Kitāb al-hay'a", The formation of the Classical Islamic World. The formation of al- Andalus. Part 2: Language, Religion, Culture and the Sciences, Ashgate, 1998, pp. 339-358, ISBN: 0-86078-709-5
"Mathematical Astrology in the Medieval Islamic West", Zeitschrift für Geschichte der Arabisch-Islamischen Wissenschaften, 18 (2009), pp. 241-268
- La astrología de los matemáticos. La matemática aplicada a la astrología a través de la obra de Ibn Mu'ad de Jaén, Universitat de Barcelona, 2010, ISBN 978-84-475-3441-8
- with Jan P. Hogendijk, "Progressions, Rays and Houses in Medieval Islamic Astrology: A Mathematical Classification", Suhayl, 11 (2012), 33-102
- "The instruments and the exercise of astrology in the Medieval Arabic tradition", Archives Internationales d'Histoire des Sciences, 63 (2013), 517-540
- "Mechanics and Engineering", The Oxford Encyclopedia of Islam and Philosophy, Science and Technology, editor in chief Ibrahim Kalin, Oxford UP, 2014, pp. 537-542, ISBN: 978-0199812578