

FINANCIAL APPLICATION SPECIALIST

Reuters, a leading company in financial markets information is looking for a Financial Applications Specialist based in Barcelona.

He/She will work on Reuters Risk & Trade Management products.

Reuters Risk & Trade Management products provide functions ranging from deal capture and position keeping through to global credit risk management, deal settlement, cash management & accounting, and from simple sensitivity analysis through to complex performance analysis and risk measurement.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- To provide qualified consulting to the customer through the implementation of our Risk & Trade Management Solutions.
- To stay constantly up to date about projects and studies within the Risk & Trade Management scope.
- To provide assistance and training (product expertise) to clients and prospects, on all functionality issues, including telephone and on site support.
- To diagnose system errors and propose solutions.
- To help in the requirement definition of specific/customised reports.
- To test new software releases.
- To maintain and improve long term client relationship and client satisfaction.

BACKGROUND

University Degree in finance and/or IT and/or MBA.

0-2 years experience.

Front, Middle, Back-office or a significant experience in a similar position will be appreciated.

REQUIREMENTS

Good knowledge of financial markets, financial instruments and derivatives.

IT literate.

Strong written, verbal communications, and presentation skills.

Ability to work in a team environment.

Proactive, organised and able to work with minimum supervision

High proficiency in the use of Microsoft and other desktop computer applications.

Fluent Catalan and Spanish and a good command of spoken and written English.

If interested please send your CV to: enric.rossello@reuters.com